

I See a Miracle

David Christopher, M.H.

I take national and international calls Monday through Thursday and I am continually asked, "What can I do to improve my eyesight?" Many of these calls involve serious eye disorders. Fortunately, I have 100 years of experience (50 years of my own and 50 of my father's) helping people overcome their eye concerns.

Recently, I was fortunate to receive a call from a woman who had been diagnosed with glaucoma, reading in the 40's. She was referred to a highly renowned surgeon who believed that the best course of action was laser surgery to clean out her ocular drainage tubes. This procedure would reduce the eye pressure that she was enduring.

She was hesitant and sought alternative action. She presented her dilemma in thorough and technical terms and inquired if I could help her. I related a simple procedure of daily grating up onions to cause the eyes to tear, thus cleaning out the clogged drainage tubes. This simple response seemed to irritate her, considering the complex solutions that main-stream medicine offered. I then presented the full procedure for eye health and healing (the procedure is given below for your convenience). She accepted this full program and adhered to it for the next four months. It was at this point that she called me back and let me know that the procedure worked, and her eye pressure had dropped from the 40's down to single digit readings and then stabilized at 13. She then said that the main reason she called was for a second opinion. Even though the glaucoma readings indicated to her that she was cured, the surgeon insisted she proceed with the operation. I then told her that I had great respect for surgeons, but if this happened to me, I would flee the surgeon's presence permanently.

When miracles happen, we should thank God and accept them.

This is the first time I have recorded this witness to a miracle. There are so many others that I really should have recorded. My father witnessed thousands of eye miracles and related some of them in his former newsletters. These are available as a download at <https://christopherpublications.com/Newsletters.html>. Of particular interest for eye issues are Volume 2 Number 8 and Volume 6 Number 8.

David Christopher is a Master Herbalist and the director of The School of Natural Healing. He also co-hosts the popular radio show "A Healthier You" and is a popular international teacher and lecturer.